Drawing inspiration from my own life experience, I created my eponymous “Laurence du Tilly” brand in 2019, offering an extensive range of furniture and interior design accessories that are MY very own signature features: clean, natural, timeless lines; high quality, traceable materials; craftsmanship that prioritizes local production.

An adept of “made-to-measure” design, my collections of tables and lamps can be made to order in any of the 200 colors featured in the RAL color chart. My furniture can also be adapted for outdoor use.

My interior design universe is an ode to serenity and harmony, an emotional journey of discovery that successfully combines iconic symbols from the past with a decidedly contemporary twist.

Coffee tables

Making metal appear softer through the use of natural shapes, thus accentuating its elegant and refined finish.

The first of my brand's designs for the living room, which represents one of the home's focal points, the coffee tables' clean, smooth, and circular lines strike a perfect balance between sobriety and timelessness. They blend seamlessly into all styles of decor.

Make your furniture your own by selecting the color that best matches your interior style from among the 200 shades available in the RAL color chart.

Dining tables

The home has become a refuge, a vital element of our well-being, and the way we decorate lies at the heart of this trend. I have designed two dining tables in order to bring together all my friends and family members.

I opted for a fine-textured matt finish for the powder-coating of these dining tables. It is less easily damaged and therefore more suitable for regular use.

The finish gives a velvety-smooth appearance that contrasts well with the straight lines of the two table legs.

Primitive collection

I spent my childhood in close proximity to African Art, and have always been fascinated by the diversity of this traditional art form.

African art and crafts seek a better understanding of the world by blending what is visible and invisible. This spiritual and sacred element plays an essential role in my creations, leading me to choose a combination of wood and metal for my /PRIMITIVE/ line of furniture. These two raw materials conjure up images of strength and refinement, accentuating the clean lines I favor.

The smooth, rounded shape of the cylindrical metal bases are powder-coated (select your color from the RAL range) and contrast with the power of the black-tinted ash, which in turn evokes the intensity of ebony, a hue that is so characteristic of Africa.

To maintain the sleek, streamlined lines that are characteristic of this collection, the tabletops are fashioned in the shape of an "airplane wing."

The woodwork is crafted by hand in a workshop in France.

Lamp Sœur

For me “A light has two distinct identities: when switched off, it is an object. When lit, it becomes a light sculpture, bathing us in a delicate or intense glow, depending on our mood or the time of day. Light stimulates our senses in the same way as therapy,”.

The /SOEUR/ lamp comprises a blown opaline globe standing on a hand-crafted base made of steel and powder-coated with a gloss finish to contrast with the more velvety appearance of the globe. Placed on the floor or on top of a piece of furniture, it gently diffuses light while remaining soft to the touch. Each lamp is fitted with a dimmer switch so you can modulate the light to suit the time of day and create your own atmosphere.

Candlesticks

As decorative objects, they can be placed in your entrance hall or in a corridor, alongside a sofa, in front of a fireplace, on a flight of stairs or even at the foot of your bathtub.

Handmade from steel in the traditional manner, they are welded into a single unit without any screws, and then painted using a powder-coating process in a French workshop.

More than just a decorative object, they are charged with emotion, poised to embrace the unique story behind each style of interior design.

Column

When designing the /CHURCH/ column, I drew my inspiration from ecclesiastical architecture. The common feature of all church buildings - whether a cathedral, abbey, or basilica - is their supporting pillars. With its slender curves and square tray top measuring 30x30cm with rounded corners resting on three columns, this model of a stele has been conceived to celebrate the very best of design and art.

The /CHURCH/ column can be easily incorporated into any interior décor and is distinguished by its understated, original features.

Made of powder-coated steel, /CHURCH/ is available in a palette of two hundred colors from the RAL chart and in three alternative heights: 80, 90 and 100 cm.

Behind the scene Manufacturing

All the products created by Laurence du Tilly are manufactured in a workshop in France, apart from her lamps which are produced in Portugal.

Her craftsmen share her values and work exclusively with the finest materials, including wood and steel, to create elegant, authentic, and resilient products.

To customize her furniture, they use a powder -coating technique. Her steel designs are color-coated with powder paint applied by an electrostatic process, which is then cured in a high-temperature oven.

Products intended for outdoor use undergo an additional, anti-corrosion phase involving metallization before being painted, in order to withstand the harshest climates, such as the seaside.

The Author

Through my encounters and my photos, I aim to convey what each person and each place has contributed, in addition to my own spiritual journey : inner peace, an ability to listen and discuss in an unobtrusive manner and the pursuit of Harmony .

This is my guiding force and is what I seek to share in my daily work.
